ADDITIONAL MATERIAL

Three folders containing an assortment of documents which are primarily typed manuscript pages featuring corrections and additions in pencil. Pieces of manuscript have been attached to larger manuscript documents by the author and this arrangement has been retained. Some items listed are made up of a number of scraps of paper, sometimes written on both sides and often with “not used” written across them. The nature of this material suggests that it is the working notes of author/s created during writing process.

There are also some newspaper cuttings and published material in the folders.
