

James Cook University Site Plans

Site plans for the establishment of the University College (which later became James Cook University of North Queensland in 1970) at the Ross River site. These plans were compiled by McIntyre & Associates, Townsville. In total there are 12 separate plans.

Archive Location: Reading Room Map Drawer

Detailed Listing

1. City of Townsville: an aerial photograph, 16 August, 1966. Photograph is marked to indicate site of James Cook University
2. University College of Townsville: layout plan, 15 December, 1966
3. University College of Townsville: 7 alignment plans, 15 December, 1966
4. University College of Townsville: 3 plans showing the location of Engineering Services Stage 1, 17 September, 1965